BOOK NOW: (505) 699-6621 | VISIT: WWW.QUINLANRANCH.COM

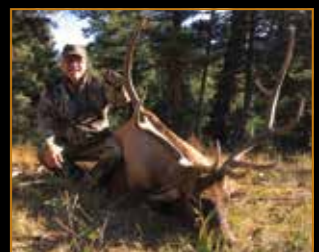

Welcome to the Quinlan Ranch. Nestled in the spectacular Chama Valley of Northern New Mexico, the Quinlan Ranch sits on 17,000 acres located on the Elk Highway in the Southern San Juan Mountains. The San Juan Mountains are considered to be the most untamed and wildlife-rich of all mountain ranges in the lower 48 States. The numbers of elk, mule deer, and bear that make their home in the San Juan range amaze even the most experienced hunters. Thousands of wild elk migrate from Colorado to New Mexico through the Quinlan Ranch every year. The Ranch offers exceptional hunting opportunities for mule deer, bear, spring turkey, mountain lion, and of course, elk. The Ranch has both wild hunts and a Rim Rock Trophy Elk Park.

The Quinlan Ranch invites you to experience the hunt of a lifetime in the famous Chama Valley. The Ranch boasts a near 100% opportunity rate for elk and mule deer, and the guides and accommodations match the world-class setting in their exceptional caliber and quality. The western boundary of the Ranch is the Continental Divide, and the eastern side of the Ranch is bordered by the 20,000-acre Sargent Elk and Wildlife Preserve. The northern boundary is the Colorado state line, and the southern boundary is highway 64/84, winding from Chama to Pagosa Springs, CO. Come witness the awesome numbers of North American elk for yourself and experience everything that Quinlan Ranch has to offer.

THE QUINLAN RANCH IS NOW ACCEPTING RESERVATIONS FOR THE 2018 SEASON AND BEYOND.
